

Consumption of Animal Origin Foods by Regional University Undergraduates During the Economic Crisis in Sri Lanka.

10th May 2023

Dear sir/madam,

I am an undergraduate student of Uva Wellassa University of Sri Lanka. I am doing a research about survey on consumption of animal origin foods by regional university undergraduates during the economic crisis in Sri Lanka. The economic crisis sharply impacted the price of food and it increased by 90% within this time duration. This situation directly affected the people below the poverty line and middle-income people. Undergraduate students are consuming a lack of animal origin foods than the normal population. Also, they have limited outlets to buy animal origin food for a reasonable price.

As you are a consumer of animal origin foods, I wish to invite you to join with this survey and your participation for the research by providing your valuable feedback on answering the attached questionnaire will be highly appreciated. The response given by you will provide useful information to analyze the real impact of economic crisis to the regional university undergraduates.

There is no compensation for responding this survey nor any known risk to your future endeavors. It is no required to mention your name, income or no of family members on the questionnaire, In-order to ensure the confidentiality of your honest response to the questionnaire attached herewith and your participation is strictly voluntary.

The copies of the survey may be provided to the Uva Wellassa University of Sri Lanka. If you require further clarification on this survey or not satisfied with the manner which this study is being conducted, please do not hesitate to contact Uva Wellassa University of Sri Lanka, Badulla on the contact details given below. I sincerely thank you for taking the time on responding this survey.

Sincerely,

Nerasha Alahakoon
